

MGRC 2024 Lunch and Learn Series

March 9 at NOON

Islands of Oasis: Monarch Survival and Regeneration

Karen Caspary

Horticulturist and volunteer coordinator: UT Gardens Knoxville

The monarch butterfly is now on the endangered species list and needs our help! Join Karen and learn about the monarch life cycle and unique two-way migration, the threats they face, and strategies we can employ to help them recover. The journey of the monarchs is a testament to the interconnectedness of our environment and the importance of each part and person of our world.

Those who attend in person will be eligible for a drawing for a terrific door prize at the end of the session.

About the MGRC Lunch and Learn Series:

The classes are short one-hour educational, lively discussions, delivered by the Master Gardeners of Roane County or other expert guests.

Topics vary from month to month based upon the latest hot research tips, requests from the community, and seasonal relevance.

Sessions are held at Noon at the Extension Office, on the second Saturday of each month. Classes are Free and open to the public. Bring a sack lunch if you wish.

Join in person or virtually via Zoom with live Q&A or watch live via Facebook or YouTube. (See details below)
